NOTE FOR: Carl

1. Two unrelated items pertaining to your role in the Agency-industry interface ---

a. I wonder if this [] proposition may involve considerably more than meets the eye. [] for example, has first class lines into the White House, and they could conceivably use [] as an example of why government ADP system responsibility should be placed in the hands of contractors. While not too familiar with the [] program, I have been very unimpressed with the program. So much time seems to be spent, for example, on hassling with library problems, i. e., indexing, etc., etc., at the expense of getting on with the program which will surely be modified on the basis of experience anyway. Then there is the [] Committee which is not too complimentary. In any event, a look to see just what [] may be trying to prove here might be very worthwhile.

3. Should I check with [] to see if [] is one of their contractors and lightly inform them of the guy's unhappiness?
